Miller Canfield counsel is at the forefront of tax-exempt health care financings, working with a wide range of issuers, including state authorities, cities, counties, hospital districts, and local authorities. Our attorneys serve as bond counsel, borrower's counsel, underwriter's counsel and special tax counsel on financings for some of the largest not for profit health care systems in the country, as well as nursing homes, clinics, health maintenance organizations, research and rehabilitation facilities and continuing care facilities. Clients rely on the expertise we have acquired working extensively with risk hedges, credit pooling structures and credit enhancement, such as interest rate swaps and other derivatives, obligated group financings and master trust indenture structures.
