OSHA/MIOSHA

Miller Canfield attorneys counsel and defend employers and companies for alleged violation of workplace health and safety standards asserted by the Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA) and Michigan Occupational Safety & Health Administration (MIOSHA). We advise and represent companies of all sizes in the automotive manufacturing industry and their diverse suppliers; general manufacturing businesses; electric utility companies and providers of natural gas; construction companies, general contractors and subcontractors in public and commercial projects, such as airports, sport stadiums and convention centers; meat and other food processors and soft drink producers; restaurants and retail businesses; colleges and universities; medical providers; warehousing and distribution companies and environmental consultants.

Our goal is always to help our clients avoid problems, and to that end, we provide extensive hands-on counseling in workplace safety and health issues. Clients rely on Miller Canfield attorneys for thorough and confidential/privileged compliance auditing, assistance in managing OSHA/MIOSHA inspections and OSHA/MIOSHA Compliance Overview Presentations.

When the need arises, we represent companies in workplace accident related litigation involving single incident civil litigation matters, criminal cases and in managing complex claims arising in multi-employer worksites, working in close cooperation with Miller Canfield litigation attorneys and criminal defense attorneys.
