International Arbitration

Miller Canfield's international arbitration and litigation attorneys work with clients to resolve complex disputes arising from expanding trade and investment around the world. Our attorneys bring the highest level of trial skills, strategy, and industry knowledge to international arbitration. We are experienced at navigating through the complex – and sometimes conflicting – statutes of various nations governing the enforcement of agreements to arbitrate and the enforcement of arbitration awards.

We have a global reach with offices in Canada, China, and Poland, and initiatives in Dubai and India that give our clients the benefit of local knowledge and procedural expertise. Miller Canfield has experience in representing businesses, investors, and State parties in disputes arising under international law and investment treaties. We have experience before all major arbitral institutions and arbitration rules and are members of the Dubai International Arbitration Centre, the International Bar Association, and the International Section of the American Bar Association. Our experience includes:

- International Chamber of Commerce (ICC)
- International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID)
- American Arbitration Association (AAA)
- International Centre for Dispute Resolution (ICDR)
- London Court of International Arbitration (LCIA)
- Stockholm Chamber of Commerce (SCC)
- UNCITRAL Rules arbitrations

We are experienced in a wide range of industry sectors, including automotive, oil and gas, aviation, construction, energy, financial services, franchise and distribution, immigration, life sciences and biotechnology, manufacturing, public utilities and telecommunication, and real estate development. We regularly provide counsel on drafting dispute resolution provisions, and on alternative methods of dispute resolution, such as mediation.
