Thomas W. Cranmer concentrates his practice in both civil and criminal litigation. With more than 30 years of courtroom experience, his practice focuses largely on white-collar criminal defense, complex commercial litigation and arbitration/facilitation matters. Over the years, he has repeatedly been recognized as one of Michigan's leading trial lawyers.

"In the types of litigation matters we handle, the stakes are often very high. At Miller Canfield, we have an uncompromising commitment to achieving the best outcome possible in each and every case that we handle."

Thomas W. Cranmer

Tom is a Deputy Chief of the Commercial Litigation Group as well as the leader of the Criminal Defense Practice Group. Prior to joining the firm, Tom served as an Assistant Prosecuting Attorney in Oakland County and an Assistant Chief of the Criminal Division of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Michigan.

Tom has extensive experience as a leader and instructor of trial advocacy including teaching for one of the preeminent trial advocacy programs in the United States, the National Institute of Trial Advocacy. In addition, he has lectured and written on a wide variety of civil litigation, criminal law and evidence topics. He is a co-author of a Michigan treatise, Civil Trials and Evidence, a contributing author to Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial/Sixth Circuit, as well as an Adjunct Professor of Law for The Thomas M. Cooley Law School teaching Evidence.

EXPERIENCE
