Adam B. Norlander's expertise includes structuring and documenting commercial, agented and syndicated loan facilities including loan facilities for waste industry and international borrowers in a timeframe conducive to both the client and borrower. Adam represents financial institutions in loan transactions including middle market lending, asset-based loans, private lending, letters of credit, real estate financing, multi-rate, and multi-currency loans and facilities. His practice area also encompasses commercial real estate law including acquisitions, sales and commercial leasing; and general corporate matters including entity formation, mergers and acquisitions.

"My philosophy in the practice of law is to be available, responsive and thorough in addressing my client's needs and issues."

Adam B. Norlander

EXPERIENCE

Adam assisted a client to close a $175 million syndicated loan facility, secured by 33 parcels of real estate, for a waste industry customer in a two-week time frame.

"This transaction is considered a cornerstone of a new group formed by the client and a stepping stone towards additional growth and profitability for that group and the client in the future.
