Joseph F. Galvin is a trial lawyer with particular expertise and experience in all aspects of litigation related to real estate, zoning and land use, environmental, and municipal issues. He was the co-author with Miller Canfield colleague LeRoy L. Asher Jr. of a chapter on zoning in "Local Government Law and Practice in Michigan," published jointly by the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Association of Municipal Attorneys in 2000.

"You must be tough, tenacious and well prepared to serve the clients' best interests."

Joseph F. Galvin

EXPERIENCE

Joseph helped a client obtain the sale of its interest in the Mall of America near Minneapolis at a multimillion-dollar sales price, helped another defend its water and sewer connection charges against a constitutional attack which would have prevented new building in Genesee County, and helped a third client build a mega-church in Plymouth Township in the face of fierce homeowner opposition.
