

Miller Canfield Lawyer Pamela Enslin Re-Elected to American Bar Association's House of Delegates

Enslin Re-Appointed to Special ABA Commission and Michigan State Bar Foundation
November 19, 2009

The law firm of Miller Canfield announces that principal Pamela C. Enslin (Kalamazoo, Mich.) will serve another three-year term in the American Bar Association's (ABA) House of Delegates, the policy-making body of the ABA, where she has served for 10 years.

Enslin was also recently re-appointed by the ABA President Carolyn Lamm to a term on the ABA's Commission on Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity, a group responsible for undertaking programs and activities that promote full and equal participation by persons of differing sexual orientation and gender identity in the ABA, the legal profession and the justice system. In addition, she was renamed a Fellow of the Michigan State Bar Foundation, providing leadership and funding to improve the justice system by increasing public access to justice and understanding about the law.

Enslin has extensive expertise in employment litigation, including federal and state employment contract, discrimination, harassment, retaliation, whistleblower and disability claims. She received her J.D. from Wayne State University Law School and her B.M. and M.M. from the University of Michigan.
