

Professional Staff

Miller Canfield employs a large group of non-attorneys who are all considered to be valuable members of our team. Throughout the firm, we are committed to treating each other with respect and courtesy, and serving each other as we serve our most valuable clients.

Our firm offers a collegial work environment and an excellent total compensation package, including health, disability and life insurance, as well as a defined contribution program.

Miller Canfield recruits, hires and promotes for all positions without regards to race, religion, color, national origin, gender, age, sexual orientation, disability or veteran's status. All terms and conditions of employment such as compensation, benefits, and work assignment are administered on the same basis of equality.
