Carol Cain discusses striving for excellence & presents 2008 Helen eWards

Cain is the community affairs/editorial director for WWJTV/CW 50, host of the weekly TV show "Michigan Matters" & Detroit Free Press columnist. Cain also appears on local & national radio as well as television shows offering her political & business views.

The Helen eWards competition, now in its 9th year, showcases the talent of Michigan-based agencies, web design firms and individuals who use creativity to help businesses succeed and stand out on the web. Winners in 10 categories will be celebrated at this year's event!

Ken Theis discusses initiatives at the state level and presents ConnecTech Awards

Theis is director for the Michigan Department of Information Technology and the State of Michigan's Chief Information Officer. He reports directly to Governor Granholm and serves as a Cabinet member. Theis was recently named to the "Premier 100" list by ComputerWorld magazine, placing him in the "Best in Class" as one of the top ten technology leaders in the country.
